about me

In addition to architecture design workflow I use various 3D modelling and visualisation tools to create form and space: architecture, environments, interiors, furnitures and other objects destined for materialization or only virtual purposes, like animation, interactive environments, games and virtual tours.

I create three levels of visualisation: static picture (illustration), motion picture (animation) and interactive 3D environment.

For me realistic visualisation is important part of the design process and testing form in defined space. There is no border between virtual world and reality. Virtual world is just a part of reality, an extension. In the material world as well as in the virtual one, the form is a negative space and vice versa — the space is a negative form. There is just a border between a form and a space, but both of them are important. A form doesn't exist without a space and also without a specific user. If a form is harmonized with individual user in the specified virtual space, it becomes real, functional and beautiful. Beauty is contained in proportions between form and space. Working on proportions requires technique of visualising in a way possible closest to reality, but I always start with a simple pencil. Reality is a language.

I took part in projects accomplished in Poland, Germany, Denmark, Norway and Kuwait.

Two from among realizations I took part in design, were awarded in competitions for building of the year constructed in Hamburg — The BDA Hamburg 2010 and 2012 Prize for Architecture.
